

State Tax Withholding Rules for Insurance and Deferred Annuities

This table provides the state tax withholding requirements for distributions taken from deferred annuities while in the accumulation phase. For all tax-qualified contracts: Withholding is taken from the total amount distributed. For non-qualified annuities: Withholding is taken from the taxable amount distributed.

State Withholding Definitions

- Optional: State tax withholding is optional. You can elect to have state taxes withheld or elect no state tax withholding.
- Form requirement: State tax withholding is required unless a state-specific form is submitted to opt-out of withholding or elect a different withholding percentage. We will follow instructions provided on the state-specific form for state tax withholding.
- Mandatory: State tax withholding is required. Cannot opt-out of state tax withholding.
